I support the early archery opener although more than a week like it currently is for sheep would be preferred.

Please consider limiting the drawing of a moose tag to a once in a lifetime opportunity. Like sheep, there are so few moose licenses available and so many people who never draw in a lifetime. It is only fair to those who are still waiting to draw, if people who have already drawn do not get to do so again. This change is long overdue, please do it.

Are you guys going to consider opening a season along the Yellowstone river between sidney and glendive? It's getting out of hand when I can see 5 moose in one sit during archery season. Thanks!

I had a moose permit in HD 303 for a bull. I was fortunate enough to harvest a bull on September 30th. He was the only bull we saw in 11 days of hunting on land we could hunt on, in this case National Forest. We did see a few cows with calves on Forest Service during my 11 days of hunting. I do not see the justification for putting out any cow moose permits. All the cows we saw on public and private ground had a calf. Studies in Idaho have shown killing a cow also kills the calf in most cases, not to mention next years calf. While we saw moose almost everyday, they were on posted private land. There are not that many moose on public land a person can hunt.

I support the creation of an archery season for moose.

I would like FWP to try to get an idea of the moose population in Region 7 if there is going to be a moose permit opportunity. This could likely be done simultaneously while counting deer during aerial surveys.

I support the creation of a moose archery season that runs the same as the deer and elk archery seasons. The creation of this archery season adds no additional permits and there should be no extra pressure on moose.

No... we spend a lot of time down there and seeing more moose and having more moose reproduction is a win/win. Increasing tags is purely a monetary move.

The Montana Bowhunters Association supports the creation of a moose archery season that coincides with the opener of deer and elk archery seasons. Since this does not add additional permits, we don't feel that this opportunity will place additional strain on moose populations.
